JAMESTOWN AS SEEN BY A SALEMITE

Points of Particular Interest to Landsmen Are Described Briefly

MAGNIFICIENT NAVAL DISPLAY

The folowing comprehensive review of the beauties and attractions at the Jamestown Exposition was written by a Salemite, a member of The News force, who was on the grounds.—Ed.

On the shores of Hampton Roads, where the mighty James pours its waters into the broad Chesapeake bay, with the Atlantic ocean in the distance betwen the Virginia capes, stands the great Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition. Here the people of the whole country are celebrating in fitting manner the 300th anniversary of the first permanent settlement of the nation, that of Capt. John Smith and his party at Jamestown, Va., in 1607.

Wonderful in its conception and beautiful in its execution, the "Colonial City," as it is called, has risen like magic among the southern plantations. With its buildings of brick and great white columns and its pretty avenues, the exposition itself is a thing of beauty and joy forever. But vieing with it in attractiveness is the wide expanse of the waters of Hampton Roads, a stretch of water which very few can equal in beauty. Here the battleships of the world gathered in fraternal meeting at the opening of the exposition, and as it draws to a close they are again dotting the waters in front of the fair grounds. The Jamestown Exposition stands ahead of all others in its water facilities and the fact that it has a fitting place to display to the people of this country the wonderful naval equipment of our government is reason enough for its final success.

Many people, and especially those of this section of the country, are of the opinion that the exposition is yet in its infancy and will never be completed. This is a sad mistake, although at first they had good grounds for such thoughts. When the exposition was formally opened many of the buildings were not completed, and the entire display was in a state of disorder. Now, however, the exposition has practically been completed. About two weeks ago the last exhibit building to be completed, the History building, was formally opened to the public, and now the world's fair is in full blast. The beautiful pier which is being built out over the water fronting the main exhibit buildings is not entirely completed, but will be within a week or so.

The government is aiding in the great display, and four exhibit buildings have been erected which are especially interesting. Encamped within the grounds is a regiment of United States soldiers, and every evening the entire regiment gives drills and goes through military maneuvers. These drills take place on the famous parade grounds of General Lee, around which the exhibit buildings have been placed. Illuminated by thousands of lights, the exposition grounds make a wonderful sight at night, and the crowds that are attending are daily increasing.

Ohis is well represented at the great exposition, and the people of the state may well be proud of its exhibits. Besides the Ohio building on the Willoughby boulevard, the state has beautiful exhibits in agriculture and horticulture, in archaeology, common schools, deaf and dumb institution, mineral and clay products, while the exhibit of the Ohio State university ranks among the best. The attendance from Ohio so far has been small, but many are now making preparations to attend. Ohio day at the exposition will be held in September, and it is thought many will be in attendance then.

COMMISSIONERS WILL SEE.

The county commissioners will make a trip Wednesday over the route of the Y. & O. R. railroad from West Point south to investigate the merits of the company's application for franchises to cross public highways. It is understood that the commissioners will go over the Jethro Hollow route into East Liverpool. By this route there will be 12 crossings between East Liverpool and West Point.

Judge Hole Closing Term of Court

Many Entries Made and Motions Filed Preparatory to Vacation Adjournment.

Judge Hole held the concluding session of the April term of common pleas court Tuesday. The business before the court consisted of dismisals, motions, entries and other matters incident to the close of the term.

The September term is scheduled to open Monday, September 30, but on account of the dedication of the McKinley Memorial at Canton on that day, Judge Hole may have the sheriff adjourn over until Tuesday.

Entries Made.

Entries have been made in the following cases:

John A. Stouffer against the Columbiana Fire Clay Co., Washingtonville, verdict of $140, the purchase price of a mule, set aside, and the defendants motion for new trial sustained.

Etta Stillwell against Charles Stillwell and others, Wellsville alimony case, defendant, Charles Stillwell, ordered to appear in open court October 1 and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for failure to comply with an order for temporary alimony.

Eva Baker against John C. Coffee and others, John S. Frazier and Elizabeth Kerr made parties defendant, with leave to answer by October 1.

Anna C. Hogue against Clyde A. Hogue, alimony, temporary alimony of $25 allowed, $15 payable forthwith and $10 by September 15.

J. S. Faloon against Kenneth Coy, leave to plaintiff to file petition by September 15.

Interurban Doings Down Lisbon Way

Work Trains Approaching to Within Two Miles of County Seat.

The Y. & O. R. steel truss bridge over the Middle Fork in the east end of Lisbon is practically completed, and track-laying toward West Point 's progressing rapidly. The work train is now running to a point about two miles south of Lisbon, and will likely be able to reach West Point by the end of the week. Between Lisbon and Leetonia the work of placing the electrical fixtures is being pushed steadily, with a view of starting the cars early in September.

The Y. & S. has not yet extended its service from Columbiana to Leetonia, but will probably do so soon. Contractor Patrick Joyce, Youngstown, who built the Y. & S., is finishing a cut between Columbiana and Leetonia and doing some additional filling. The work train has covered the entire distance between the towns for some time. Between Columbiana and Youngstown the company has been maintaining an hour and a half service from early morning till nearly midnight. A freight and express car makes a round trip each day, and hauls considerable freight.

R. A. M. WORK.

A special convocation of Salem chapter No. 94, R. A. M., will be held on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock for the purpose of conferring the Mark Master, Past Master and M. E. Master degrees on several candidates. All members are requested to be present in order that the work may be done in a creditable and satisfactory manner.

TRADES ASSEMBLY.

The regular meeting of Trades Assembly will be held Wednesday evening, when important business matters will be taken up.

Taft Declares His Principles In a Much-Heralded Address

WAR SECRETARY DISCUSSES RAILROADS, TRUSTS, TARIFF

Ohio Presidential Candidate Makes Clear His Position On These Questions---Stands With Roosevelt---Pays His Respects to Bryan-- Favors a Revision of the Tariff After the Election of 1908

Columbus, O., Aug. 20.—Hon. William H. Taft, secretary of war, and one of the most prominently mentioned candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, in a speech delivered last night under the auspices of the Buckeye Republican club of Columbus, gave to the country what may be regarded as the platform on which he goes before the people.

Secretary Taft was invited to discuss the national issues by the club, which desired to tender him a farewell reception before his departure for the Philippines. He responded with a full and frank presentation of his views relative to the great questions of absorbing national importance. He made clear his position relative to the railroads, the trusts, and the tariff, and in addition gave a masterly exposition of what has been accomplished under President Roosevelt's administration.

In beginning his speech Secretary Taft pointed out that there has been a quickening of the public conscience in the midst of the general prosperity of the country that demands a remedy for many abuses in industrial and political affairs. He then took up the railroad question, describing the abuses of rate discriminations and the failure of the old interstate commerce law to afford adequate remedy for these abuses. This made necessary the new rate bill, he said, and he proceeded then to tell what the new rate law does, and to describe the opposition to its enactment. Outraged public opinion carried the bill, however, and the opposition was able to muster only seven negative votes in the house and three in the senate. Continuing, Secretary Taft said:

Opponents Belittle Rate Bill.

"The opponents of the measure continue to denounce it, but now instead of pointing out its disastrous effect, they say it is a failure and that in the year since its passage, it has not helped a single shipper. They insist that the only effective and an all-sufficient law to regulate railways is the Elkins act, passed in 1903, and that this is shown by the fact that all the prosecutions in which convictions have been had against railway companies and favored shippers in the last two years, have been under the Elkins act, and not under the rate bill. Let us look into the facts in regard to this allegation. The chief prosecutions which have been instituted have been criminal indictments against the sugar trust and the Standard Oil company, and

Alliance Is Dying Hard

Papers There Find it Difficult to Give Up Big Industry, But It's All Off

Monday evening the Alliance Leader, under glaring headlines, took what comfort was possible under the circumstances, over the alleged fact that Salem was only to get a part of the works of the American Case and Register Co., which is now located in that city. The Leader attempted to say that the case works and the printing department would be retained there, although it was admitted that the management had not told them all that was on their minds. The matter was considered a good joke by the management of the works, and also by the board of trade members, but for fear that some who are not posted would be misled, The News interviewed W. B. Carey, a member of the board, regarding the subject.

Mr. Carey stated that he would not say that there had been an absolute agreement that the company would move all its business here immediately, but that the register business was to be located here within 18 months at least. The intention, however, is to locate it all here sooner than that if the buildings can be erected fast enough to do so. As to the case works, the matter has been arranged that this is to be left with the board of directors, several of whom will be Salem men. As to whether this department shall be moved as soon as the other will depend upon whether the business can be cared for here to advantage, and if so it will be moved as soon as it is possible to do so.

BOYS IMPLICATED IN ROW WERE IN MAYOR'S COURT

Most of the parties implicated in the row on East Main stret Saturday night appeared at the mayor's office Monday night and were dismissed, the mayor apparently being satisfied that Firman and Fred Gaunt and Clarence Scullion were not the instigators of the muss, but were acting more in the line of peacemakers when they mixed in.

Russell Harris and Ray Hoobler were not heard, but will be up Tuesday evening, when they will have a chance to tell how they came to be in trouble. A large crowd of boys was present Monday evening to hear the evidence, and were considerably disappointed at not hearing all the cases. Among them were a number of the members of the "Knockers'" gang, of which Harris claims to be a member.

Cornelius Depchcia, the foreigner who was charged with mistreating a paper carrier boy, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault, and was fined $3 and costs. A brother attempted to shield the man by making certain claims, and was informed that he would be fined, when he weakened and the man whom the boy charged with the misdemeanor came to time.

Fights Galore; Due to Microbe

George Brown Is in Jail Following a Row in a Downtown Saloon.

The fighting microbe seems to have become epidemic in Salem within the last few days, the third within three days having occurred Monday evening at the Colonial hotel bar. George Brown, a well-known character, and Ben Wright, who is employed at the hotel, were the principals, and were locked up, Wright soon securing his release on a forfeit and Brown languishing in jail.

The scrap is said to have originated over a game of dice in the saloon, and upon Brown becoming boisterous he was ejected. Instead of leaving the place, he is said to have remained about the front of the saloon, using abusive language, and Wright finally went out to where he was and struck him a blow, and the principals were then taken in hand by Policeman Miller.

Tuesday forenoon Patrolman Frank Babel was called to Broadway to take charge of "Red" Gavin, who was drunk and indecent. He was lodged in the city jail.

After making a run to the Pennsylvania station about 8 p. m. Monday evening, the patrol wagon was forced to return empty handed, no one being in sight. A young man whose name could not be learned had imbibed too freely and was hardly able to navigate. He had become a nuisance to the passengers waiting at the station and the patrol was summoned.

In the meantime an employe of the Pennsylvania Co. had carried the helpless form some distance up the track, and when the patrol arrived they were compelled to return without the man.

Salem vs. Sebring; Away Wednesday

Indications Point to Good Game in the Dishtown Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Salem Independents will go to Sebring Wednesday to play a game with the Sebring team, the seventh game this season. In the first series Sebring defeated Salem four straight times, but in the two games since the last series began Salem has won both, and expects to add another to the list Wednesday. A large number of good rooters will accompany the team, and a fast game is assured, for the team that wins will have to play good ball.

Manager Smith had not arranged Tuesday when seen about it as to who would pitch, but it will be either Finke or Allison, and the rest of the team will be the regular lineup.

On account of there being no game here Wednesday afternoon the Athletics have arranged a game at Amusement park with the Pittsburg Operators, which will be called at 4 p. m. The Athletics have been playing good ball, and a good game is assured, as the operators have been also putting up a good article.

MANY LIVES IMPERILED IN TENEMENT FIRE.

New York, Aug. 20.—Six persons were overcome and the lives of a score of others were imperiled in an incendiary fire early this morning in a three-story tenement on Dekelde avenue, Brooklyn. That no lives were lost was due to the heroism of the policemen, who discovered the fire and assisted the occupants to escape. Shortly afterward the flames were discovered in another tenement on Himrod steet, and 50 persons were driven to the streets in a panic. Trapped in the basement, Jacob Hinne was seriously burned, and was removed to the hospital in a critical condition.

REV. GRABLE COMING.

Rev. M. J. Grable, Steubenville, for many years pastor of the Christian church of this city, will arrive here Thursday evening. He will occupy the pulpit at the local church both at the morning and evening services on next Sunday.

GROSSEST PLAGIARY CHARGED

COMMITTEE WILL INVESTIGATE

Columbus, Aug. 20.—A committee of the Ohio Society of the Sons of American Revolution has been appointed to represent that organization at Jamestown on Ohio day, September 11. Governor Harris, his staff and a number of the members of the Ohio general assembly will also attend on that occasion, when a special program will be rendered.

Homecoming week will be fitly observed by all fraternal bodies in the city, including the Knights of Pythias, the Masons, the Odd Fellows and others, by keeping open house the entire week. Special services will be held in all the city churches on Wednesday evening of the week, with the services conducted as far as possible by pastors who formerly lived in Ohio.

Charge Plagiary.

It is claimed that the song, "The Hills of Ohio," that won the $50 prize offered by the state board of agriculture, and alleged to have been written by J. R. Rudolph of Zanesville, is a wholesale plagiarism from the song of the same title sung by G. F. Wharton, at Smithfield, Noble county, on the 1st of January, 1906. An investigation has been set on foot, and if the charge is proven Mr. Rudolph will not get the money. A sensation has been created by the developments.

Pick Another.

The board of trustees of the institution for the education of the blind has made another attempt to secure a superintendent, the choice this time falling upon Edward M. Van Cleve, superintendent of the Steubenville schools. Mr. Van Cleve's term is four years from the 15th of September, when he will relieve Mr. Brown, the present incumbent, who lost his place because he talked too much. The other applicants for the place were John M. Beckett of Columbus, Prof. J. J. Bliss of the Bucyrus public schools, J. Frank Lum, a teacher in the institution, and C. D. Tomer of Mt. Gilead. Prof. S. P. Humphrey of Ironton, chosen a month ago, refused to accept the post.

Full Entries.

The entry books for the Ohio State Fair will be filled judging from the demands coming up from everywhere. The entry books for the woman's department opened Monday morning at the office of the board in the State House. The exhibition promises to easily eclipse all previous ones in every line.

A strike is threatened by the firemen in the employ of the city unless the demand of the international body for an increase in wages is acceded to. The matter has been put up to the city by the business representatives of the local union.

Resignations Are Regular Order

School Teachers Are Unsettled in Districts as Well as in the City.

Receiving resignations from retiring teachers continues to be the order of business in this township. At the regular meeting of the board of education Monday evening, the resignation of Mattie King, teacher in district No. 5, was received and accepted. Miss Alice Haviland was transferred from district No. 2 to No. 5, and Ava Barnes was employed to teach in district No. 2.

During the meeting there was some discussion as to changing the series of geographies used in the districts. It was pointed out by Supt. Fawcett that the teachers found it difficult to teach from the text. He also recommended more supplementary reading in the schools. The geographies will not be changed at present, however, for the reason that the same series is used in the city schools. There is considerable transferring between city and district schools.

THE TAFT SPEECH.

The speech of Secretary Taft at Columbus is of vast importance to the entire political world; not necessarily because of the personality of the speaker, but because of the relation that he bears to the Republican party. As a prospective candidate for president of the United States on the principles of Republicanism, Secreary Taft has taken the radical view with regard to trust legislation and the income tax propaganda. In his discussion of every issue now confronting the people of this country, he was dispassionate and thoughtful, but the sense of his arguments has caused him to be referred to as a "radical among radicals." He unqualifiedly endorsed every official act of President Roosevelt, recommended clear-cut amendments to the inter-state commerce act in order to increase its effectiveness, and proposed a "protective revision" of the tariff.

The entire speech casts shadows of the mighty changes that have taken place in the public mind with regard to private and individual rights. It shows the advanced state of public opinion, as interpreted by the leaders of the majority party, for it will not be supposed that the speech of Mr. Taft was not sanctioned by the leaders of the administration. The speech reflects the great impression that public demand for the square deal has made upon politicians and statesmen. Trusts are to be curbed; the people have clamored for legislation with that end in view until it is coming. Swollen fortunes will be regulated by legislation for the same reason. The speech of this leading Republican as such is a warning to selfish conservatives.

J. B. Foraker, Joseph G. Cannon, Charles Fairbanks, Philander C. Knox and probably William J. Bryan, the latter a political speaker from Nebraska, were among those who were deeply interested in their morning papers Tuesday. Some of them may have remained up late the night before and received a few telegrams. A Mr. Taft, formerly of Cincinnati and the holder of important government positions, made a speech in Columbus that was of peculiar personal interest to the above named gentlemen.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

In the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.
Fred T. Bennett, Special Agent.

A vote by the inmates of an Indiana insane asylum decrees that the works of Henry James, the American-English novelist, are the most popular in the institution's extensive library. This is not necessarily an evidence of why the voters are reading books in the library of an insane asylum, but it does bear out the popular theory that a peculiar quality of mind, at least, is needed for the appreciation and enjoyment of the remarkable effusions of this celebrated stylist.

One of the Guggenheims says that America is verging onto monarchistic life, as a result of the manners affected in federal circles at Washington. He says the President is trying to establish monarchial dignity around the White House establishment. It isn't always an easy matter to ascertain what the President is trying to do, but it is difficult to pitch hay, hunt bears, own sporty bulldogs and attain kingly dignity all at the same time.

Following the mayor's speech of acceptance, in which he laid stress upon the alleged fact that good order was being maintained during his administration, Salem people are greeted with accounts of midnight street brawls, fights over crap games, etc. This must be in a degree embarrassing to his honor.

When Common People is fined he wipes his glasses, says "tough luck," and settles or goes to jail. When an octopus in the form of a trust is fined, it is taken as a huge joke by the people themselves, and the favorite bet is that the fine will not be paid. There is a difference. What makes it?

John L. Sullivan suggests, as an outlet for the surplus coin of the country's magnates, the establishment of cheap laundries over the country. He says that the washtub is breaking womankind down in America, and that it should be done away with.

Contemporary opinion has it that Taft's Columbus speech makes it plain that he is the President's candidate. It is also asserted that the speech makes it plain that Mr. Taft wants it known that he has the backing of the chief executive.

Secretary Taft read his speech from a printed circular, and it took two hours for its delivery. In the meantime politicians over the country were on the anxious seat, wondering what was being said.

Alliance papers may take their own time in giving up their Case and Register Co. ghost. In the meantime, Salem has a contract with the company that doesn't mince words.

Many persons will believe that Mr. Taft could not have followed in any better footpath than that marked out by President Roosevelt.

Neighbors Got Fooled.

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive, but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good sound health," writes Mrs. Eva Uncapher, of Grovertown, Stark Co., Ind. This King of cough and cold cures, and healer of throat and lungs, is guaranteed by Bolger & French, Druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

WAS REUNION DAY.

Five family reunions were held Saturday at Lake park, west of Sebring, the Whiteleather, the Santee, the Borton, the Garman and the Pentz and Hilton. Each was largely attended.

Rising From the Grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fertwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters wil cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed at Bolger & French, druggists. Price only 50c.

Beloit Trouble.

A warrant for the arrest of John Robush of Beloit was filed in Justice Baker's court Monday morning, charging him with indecent language reflecting on the character of Elma Porter, young girl of that village. Efforts were put forth to effect a settlement of the matter.

Baseball.

The game of ball on the local diamond here Saturday was between Sebring and Akron league teams, Sebring winning by a score of 14 to 3. Some nice plays were made, but taken on the whole the Akron boys put up a very poor article of ball.

On Wednesday Salem will play here, and on Saturday Sebring goes to New Berlin.

Brief Mention.

V. A. Brown was an East Palestine visitor over Sunday.

The Misses Pearl Wilson and Clara Rodebaugh are entertaining friends from Pittsburg.

Columbiana County Pomona Grange

Interesting Meeting of This Order Saturday at Salem Grange Hall--Fine Program for Afternoon Session.

ORDER WANTS AUTOMOBILE LEGISLATION

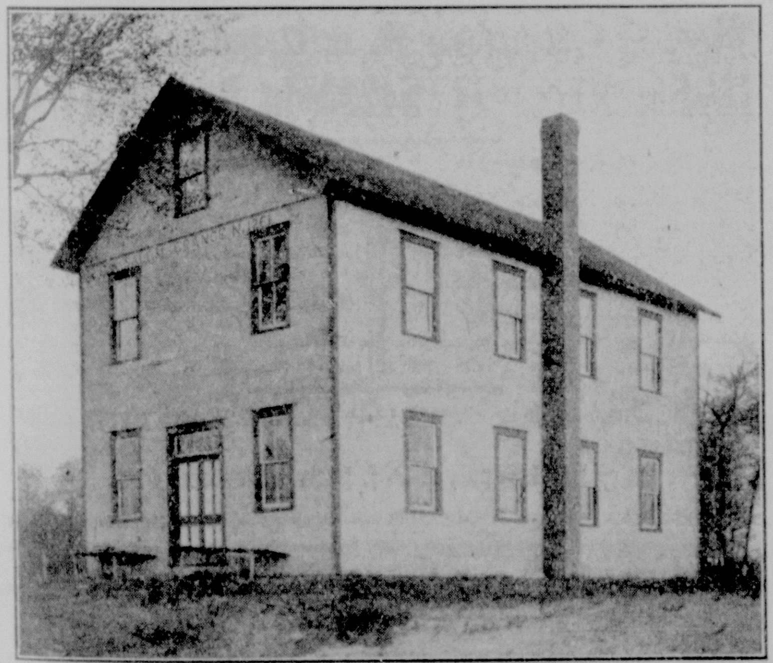
The Columbiana County Pomona Grange met Saturday with Salem Grange at their commodious hall three miles south of Salem. The attendance was not as large as that at times characterizing the meeting owing to the late harvest season and the consequent urgency of work of the farm, at this time.

Of the twelve granges in the county, eight were represented at the meeting, those having no one present being Perry, Fairfield, Pleasant Valley and Summit.

The forenoon session was taken up with the regular business routine of the order, initiation, etc. Four applications for membership were received and all were instructed in the work of Pomona. These were A. R. Raley, G. M. Cumberland, Clark Miller and Mrs. Lizzie R. Sanor, all members of Guilford Grange.

Mrs. Barbara Seachrist, Near New Waterford, Member Pomona Grange, Who Died Since Its Last Meeting.

As to the status of the order all granges were reported as holding meetings regularly and generally in good condition. Midway had recently cancelled their indebtedness on their property. Mile Branch was still adding to their membership which is now 65.



SALEM GRANGE HALL

Following the completion of reports a committee was named by Master F. J. Ward to draft suitable resolutions in memory of deceased members and adjournment was made for dinner.

Afternoon Session.

At about 1:30, standard time, the Master rapped the gavel for order and business was again resumed. After some routine matters were disposed of, the educational and social features in charge of the lecturer were taken up, these opening with a song provided by members of Salem Grange, a most pleasing selection meeting with hearty encore at its close.

The first subject to come under discussion was bread making and a comparison of methods of fifty years ago, with those of today, together with relative merits of buhr and roller process flour, the speakers being Mrs. Mary A. Randolph, Butler Grange; Mrs. Mariam E. Yates, Salem Grange, two of the oldest ladies in the order, and Albert A. Vansyoc, Mile Branch Grange, formerly a flouring mill man well-known throughout western Columbiana county. The addresses were all exceptionally interesting, they being supplemented to a degree by a talk by S. L. Whinery, of Butler, a skilled baker once in business in Salem.

Mr. Vansyoc brought out much of historic interest in his address, one fact being that the roller milling system, instead of being a comparatively new one, as is the general belief, was a very old one, having been first used in Hungary more than a hundred years ago. Rolls had also been used in grinding grain in the old world during King William's reign, but in both instances a return to the stones as a method of grinding, had been made. The speaker said that in time past he had expressed a belief that a return to the buhrs would be made in time here, but in the light of improvements and advancement, what the future might hold could not be told. All the points incident to milling and bread making, old and new, the flour as it comes from the buhrs and the rolls, whitening prosesses and the possibilities as to their uses, the bread as it comes from the oven of the country home and that of the professional baker was all brought out in the discussion. Wheats, old and new varieties and their flouring qualities entered into the discussion also, together with the tolls exacted for grinding in former and present times.

At the close of this discussion Lizzie Dixson, Salem Grange, gave a recital entitled, "Betty Simpkin's Mare." It was an excellent selection, meritoriously rendered.

The subject of alfalfa had attention next, this being almost as interesting a topic as that of bread making. This legume is know nto have been grown many centuries ago. It is said that the steeds drawing the chariot driven by Ben Hur, were fed on alfalfa. It was first introduced into this country in California under the name of lucerne and its value as a feed is becoming more popular with the passing of time, its growing gradually extending eastward. Though many had tried the growing of alfalfa in Columbiana county, none had been successful.

W. D. Geiger, Columbia Grange, believed it was possible to grow it on every acre of soil in the county, and that we will as soon as we discover and supply to the soil that element lacking, basing his theory on the fact that today we can scarcely grow clover, where years ago we got abundant harvests. This he contended shows that some essential necessary in the condition of the soil had been taken from it and never returned. He had failed twice in its growing, but had recently sown again, the seed germinating nicely, but he could already see failure in the present instance as the chickens had found the young plants. He was going to go ahead, however, even though he had to sell every chicken on the farm.

A violin solo by Charles F. Fawcett, Salem Grange, met with such hearty encore that he was forced to yield to the call for a second selection.

The possibilities of the electric railway to the rural communities was discussed briefly by H. A. Halverstadt, Mt. Nebo Grange; Peter Smith, Columbia Grange, and Fred Ferrall, Midway Grange.

After this came the singing of a song, "Keep It Rolling," the composition of G. W. Armstrong, Lisbon, the grange bard. It is set to the music of "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder," and is a beauty in the way of grange songs. It was sang with a vim, which made the welkin ring. Then came some unfinished business, following which Master Ward left the gavel fall and the meeting was over.

Notes.

The next meeting of Pomona will be held at Mt. Nebo Grange hall, near Shelton's grove, Saturday, Nov. 6.

Resolutions were adopted placing the grange on record as favoring a law prohibiting automobiles from running upon the public highways on one or two days of the week, in order that women might safely drive to town with horses and limiting the speed of them at any time to ten miles an hour. A bill embodying the resolution will be sent to the state representatives asking that the same be presented to the legislature for enactment into law. The enforcement of the law requiring the cutting of briers and noxious weeds on public highways be enforced is also demanded.

Since last meeting the grange of the county lost three members by death, Rebecca Snyder, Barbara Seachrist and Hiram Macklin, all of Columbia Grange. The two former were members of Pomona Grange as well, while Mrs. Seachrist was also a member of Ohio State Grange. Mrs. Snyder was the widow of the late John J. Snyder, near North Lima, and was 72 years old. Mrs. Seachrist was the wife of Ira Sechrist, near New Waterford, and was 49 years old. The death of Mrs. Nettie Pidgeon, a former well-known member of Columbiana County Pomona Grange, was also noted.

Mrs. Rebecca Snyder, Near North Lima, Member Pomona Grange, Who Died Since Its Last Meeting.

The publication of a grange song book, the entire contents the composition of G. W. Armstrong, Lisbon Grange, is in prospect and that it will soon be out in neat form, well bound, set in music, is but a matter of a little time. Mr. Armstrong is a writer of noted ability and merit, and the volume will contain songs destined to become the standard of music throughout the bounds of the order everywhere.

H. W. Halverstadt, Leetonia, and G. W. Kunkle, Damascus, have been named by the grange to represent Columbiana county on the farmers' side of the tax question before the tax commission at Columbus, this body meeting to hear expressions on the subject, Monday, Sept. 2.

Salem Grange, where the Pomona meeting was held has 47 members. It was organized by Deputy Master Uriah Thomas, March 20, 1876, with J. B. Yates as Master and John Gaunt, secretary. The first meeting was held in an old house owned by Hannah Harris, its sessions being held there for some years. A move was made from there to a room on the Randel's farm, now owned by David Harris. Later a half acre of ground was purchased from James Barber, a building bought and moved upon it, the meeting being held there until 1905, when the present site was purchased and hall erected. S. E. Christopher is the present Master, Mrs. S. E. Christopher, secretary.

At the close of the Pomona meeting a vote of thanks was unanimously accorded Salem Grange for the courtesies extended and efforts put forth in providing all who came to the meeting a pleasant time.

There is probably no order in Columbiana county, owning so many of its own halls as does the grange. All but two of the twelve own their own lodge rooms, and one of the two now have one in course of building.

Secretary Taft, Chief Gunner of Administration, Fires First Gun of Campaign

RAILROADS, TRUSTS AND TARIFF

Ohio Presidential Candidate Makes Clear His Position on These Questions—Favors Revision of Tariff Whenever It Becomes Necessary.

Columbus, O., Aug. 20.—The Hon. William H. Taft, secretary of war and one of the most prominently mentioned candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, in a speech delivered last night under the auspices of the Buckeye Republican club of Columbus, gave to the country what may be regarded as the platform upon which he goes before the people.

Secretary Taft was invited to discuss the national issues by the club, which desired to tender him a farewell reception before his departure for the Philippines. He responded with a full presentation of his views relative to the great questions of absorbing national importance. He made clear his position relative to the railroads, the trusts, and the tariff and gave a resume of what had been accomplished under President Roosevelt's administration.

Secretary Taft pointed out that there has been a quickening of the public conscience in the midst of the general prosperity of the country that demands a remedy for many abuses in political and industrial affairs. He then took up the railroad question, describing the abuses of rate discrimination and the failure of the old interstate commerce law to afford adequate remedy for these abuses. This made necessary the new rate bill, he said, and he proceeded to tell what the new rate law does and to describe the opposition to its enactment. Outraged public opinion carried the bill, however, and the opposition was able to muster only 7 negative votes in the house and 3 in the senate. Continuing, Secretary Taft said in part:

Opponents Belittle Rate Law.

"The opponents of the measure continue to denounce it, but now, instead of pointing out its disastrous effect, they say it is a failure and that in the year since its passage it has not helped a single shipper.

"If the rate bill was likely to be a failure and to accomplish nothing in the regulation of their business the query naturally arises, why did the railroads spend so much money and so great effort to defeat it? Why was it, if it had no effect, that in the interval between the time of its passage and its going into effect, there were filed with the interstate commerce commission more notices of reduced rates by the railroads than ever had been filed in the previous 20 years of the life of the interstate commerce law?

Objects to Government Ownership.

"I am opposed to government ownership—

"First, because existing government railways are not managed with either the efficiency or the economy of privately managed roads and the rates charged are not as low and therefore not as beneficial to the public;

"Second, because it would involve an expenditure of certainly twelve billions of dollars to acquire the interstate railroads and the creation of an enormous national debt;

"Third, because it would place in the hands of a reckless executive a power of control over business and politics that the imagination can hardly conceive and would expose our popular institutions to danger."

Taking up the question of the trusts Secretary Taft explained the present anti-trust law and gave his views regarding unlawful monopoly. He declared that the mere aggregation of plants in a given line of industry in one ownership does not necessarily suppress competition, but he pointed out the illegal devices employed by some great corporations.

The Protective Tariff.

Great interest attached to Secretary Taft's utterances on the tariff. On this subject he said:

"The present business system of the country rests upon the protective tariff and any attempt to change it to a free trade basis will certainly lead only to disaster.

"It is the duty of the Republican party, however, to see to it that the tariff on imported articles does not exceed substantially the reasonably permanent differential between the cost of production in the foreign countries and that in the United States, and therefore when changes take place in the cost of production likely to produce a very large reduction in the cost of production in the United States, it is time that schedules be re-examined.

"Protection, as the word implies, requires that the tariff schedules be such as protect our manufacturers against undue pressure from foreign competition and maintain our high wage scale and standard of living. The minimum measure of protection is, therefore, as President Roosevelt said, 'The difference in the cost of production in this country and abroad.' These protective schedules, thus figured, must carry with them a vary ample margin for safety. It must make full allowance for the possibility of hard times abroad and good times here; for dumping and all other contingencies. This done, it is truly protective; and it is only so as it covers these features and nothing more.

"Objection is made to revision on the ground that we are enjoying business prosperity, that this will be disturbed by a proposal to change the tariff, and that we should wait until hard times before we revise. I can not follow the argument. The revision proposed is to be by the Republican party and is not to be a departure from the protective principle, but in conformity with it. It will affect only those persons injuriously who are making an unreasonable profit out of an excessive rate. The present prosperity is not dependent upon such a profit. If it were, then it would not be the prosperity of the whole business community, but only of a few unduly favored at the expense of the community."

Why It Succeeds

Because It's for One Thing Only, and Salem People Appreciate This.

Nothing can be good for everything.

Doing one thing will bring success.

Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.

They cure sick kidneys.

They cure backache, every kidney ill.

Here is Salem evidence to prove it:

Mrs. John Taylor of 21 East Fifth St., Salem, O., says: "I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills first in 1896, and in 1900 I confirmed my previous testimonial. I can only say today, more than eight years after I first publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills, that the cure they made has remained permanent. I have always advised the use of this remedy when occasion has offered, and I know of several who have been cured by it. I am pelased to let others known of such a valuable medicine."

A BIG DEFENSE FUND

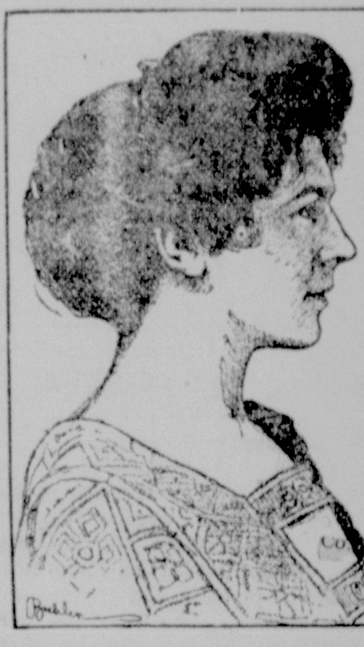
WITH MONEY SUCCESS CERTAIN

Chicago, Aug. 20.—President Small of the telegraphers' union has instructed the cable operators in every American station to hold themselves in readiness for a strike order. Similar instructions were conveyed to 300 electricians employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph company. Negotiations between the union and the long distance service have not progressed satisfactorily and a strike of all relay men is imminent.

"Ten million dollars for defense," is the goal the striking telegraphers have started out to attain. This gigantic fund, according to the plans of President Small, of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, is to be largely contributed by the business men of the country—not the captains of industry or those allied to great corporations—but the small dealers and proprietors of medium importance.



MRS. CLARENCE MACKAY.

A like fund is to be raised by the trades unionists of Europe following Small's suggestions and the whole is to be supplied to the workingmen throughout the world, regardless of occupation.

Arrangements are being made to send 500 operators and their families to a camping ground near Madison, Wis. The party will got to Milwaukee by boat and across the country on an interurban line. They will remain until recalled to work after the strike ends.

A meeting of women telegraphers has been called to elect a committee to present to Helen Gould the appeal of the female strikers for better wages and conditions.

To obtain an audience the girl strikers will appeal to Secretary Easley of the National Civic Federation. A similar memorial will be addressed to Mrs. Clarence Mackay, wife of the largest stockholder in the Postal company. Mrs. Mackay has a reputation of being religious and charitable and through her the women hope to get relief from hard conditions in the offices of that company.

Dances, ball games and charity bazars as means to support labor movements are to become things of the past, if Small's plan obtains.

The striking telegraphers are more than ever strong in their united front against the companies and are determined to stick together until their fight is won.

Not a single desertion from the ranks of the strikers has occurred. Occasionally a man with a family dependent upon him has shown a disposition to quit, but the determination of his fellows and the strength of purpose shown by the women on strike has brought him back into line.

The fight has now settled down to a state of siege. If the strikers can raise money to support their forces they say they will win. In the meantime some of the greatest influences are brought to bear upon the telegraph companies and the Associated Press to force compliance with union demands.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Surprise Party.

About 30 of the friends of S. A. Shearer took him by surprise at his home on Garfield avenue Monday evening. The occasion was the celebration of his birthday, and was most successfully planned and carried out by Mrs. Shearer. The Swastika Mandolin club was present and furnished pleasing music throughout the evening. Cards and other games were participated in by the happy stags, and the first prize was awarded to James Birchfield, the consolation prize being bestowed on Elmer Gordon. The surprisers presented their host with a handsome leather rocker.

FAMILY HOMECOMING NEAR NEWGARDEN.

A pleasant family gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cassius Sanor, west of Newgarden, Sunday, in honor of Mrs. Elizabeth Sanor, who also has her home there.

The occasion was the 77th birthday anniversary of the aged woman, all the children living, together with grand children and great grand children coming in to make merry and glad. Beside it is the old family home and all were glad to once more assemble beneath the trees and amid the flowers about the door yard. The coming of all the children was a complete surprise to Mrs. Sanor but none enjoyed the social pleasures of the day more than she.

The children living are Frank, New Chambersburg; Cassius, on the old home farm; Henry, Lisbon; Kirby, near Scrabble; W. B., near Hanoverton, and L. B. and O. F., Salem. There are 21 grand children and six great grand children.

Other relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Sanor, New Chambersburg; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Sanor, Hanoverton; Mr. and Mrs. Cary Zepernick, New Alexander, and Jacob Sanor, North Georgetown. Sixty-two in all sat down to the grand and elegant dinner.

Potters Uneasy On Wage Scale

Meeting Is Being Held in New York in the Hope of an Adjustment.

Although the potters' convention which recently convened in East Liverpool turned down practically all propositions relative to an advancement in the wage scale, there was a demur on the part of the workers, and the past two or three weeks there has been some apprehension as to the outcome.

With a view to an amicable adjustment of the matter, a meeting of manufacturing and operative potters are holding counsel this week in New York city.

Among those from this section in attendance are F. A. Sebring, of Sebring for the manufacturers and Mayor Charles Dorff of the same town on behalf of the operators, he being one of the vice presidents of the National Brotherhood.

The amount of increase in pay asked by the operators is from 10 to 15 per cent. The situation is regarded as a critical one in pottery circles, and unless a compromise is affected by the present meeting a strike may result.

& Kridler, which is in charge of the selling of the stock, substantiated the declaration of Mr. Carey, and said that there was no question but that the entire works would be located here as soon as the buildings and equipment could be provided to take care of it.

The News also communicated with Walter M. Ellett, Alliance, who is president of the company, who, without having known what the other gentlemen had stated, in words which held the exact meaning, substantiated their statements. He made it clear that the matter of the case works, which is at present the big end of the works there, would be left with the directors of the company, to do with it as the best interests of the company's stockholders seemed to warrant. If the company can make more money by continuing the works in Alliance for a time, this will be done, but it is the present intention to have the entire works here as soon as it is possible to move them.

INTERURBAN PROMOTERS HERE ON BUSINESS.

Warren A. Bicknell, president of the Y. & O. R. R. R. Co., Cleveland, accompanied by his little daughter, came to this city Tuesday morning and was here in consultation with Attorney L. P. Metzger and others during the day.

When asked about the company's plans to connect up with the Stark Electric, he stated that the company had not concluded what to do as yet.

Hugh Bleakley, Alliance, who is interested in securing right of way for the Youngstown, Alliance & Akron railroad, was also in the city Tuesday, and expressed himself as being confident that the road would be started next spring. Consents have been secured for the line on West Green street and Ellsworth avenue in this city, and on Ely, Hester and Patterson street, Alliance. Wednesday Jesse Sproat of this city will go to Sebring, where he will begin work on the consents along Indiana avenue.

FRIGHTFUL ATROCITIES ATTRIBUTED TO SAILORS.

Leicester, England, Aug. 20.—Atrocities too horrible to mention, and which are a disgrace to civilization, are charged against the French and Spanish sailors and soldiers at Casablanca, by W. T. Bolton, who was the first refugee to reach England. He says the whole massacre was deliberately arranged by the French. The invasion of Casablanca was so arranged that it caused the Moors to resort to violence, giving an excuse for shooting down helpless natives. Bolton is connected with the North American mission and was stationed at Casablanca.

HELPING OUT.

The Adams Express Co. of this city sent one of their delivery wagons to Massillon Tuesday morning and one was also sent from Alliance. The wagons used at the offices in Massillon were burned in the disastrous fire which took place early Monday morning. A livery stable was burned, the hostler and 62 horses burned to death.

BONSALL SISTERS EXPLAIN.

Editor The News:

The Bonsall sisters wish to inform the public that right in the middle of August they have been robbed of their beautiful Crystal Spring lake, which was runnig over at the top and out at he bottom. It had been examined by a state inspector and not pronounced against, and was believed to be entirely healthful.

There was no offensive smell, but the stagnation idea got into a few people's heads who should never have been listened to, and now they are worse off than before by having it drained in hot weather, and the city may be sued for damages.

SENT OUT OF TOWN.

Constable C. H. Johnson was called near Capel's sand-bank, on the Benton road, where a stranger, who was evidently partially unbalanced, had been for two or three days. He seemed unable to tell his name except that it was Roney, and he will be sent to Enon, Pa., Wendesday, by the township trustees.

MAYOR IS ILL.

Mayor Carlile was not able to be at his office Tuesday, having contracted a severe cold Saturday or Sunday, and was too ill to come downtown. He hoped to be able to be down by evening, when several hearings are set, and others are coming.

CRIME'S REWARD.

Cannot the solution of the problem be found in itself? Why do men become criminals? In many instances because they have a grudge against society, and in a much larger number because they believe that the returns are higher in proportion to their efforts than they can find in any other and more honorable walk of life. The increase of the efficiency of the police forces and detective bureaus throughout the country and the doing away of any suggestion of collusion between those who war against society and society's protectors should tend to show a complimentary decrease in the number of criminals.

How many young men of loose morals who for the first time face temptation would fall and begin criminal careers if they realized the appalling chances in favor of the their incarceration by the state and the loss of their citizenship? The lure of crime lies in the vast profits which embryo criminals foolishly believe are to be deprived therefrom; but from a purely economic standpoint are the profits commensurate with the risks? Day by day the courts condemn and incarcerate able-bodied men who might be working to good advantage and improving the standard of citizenship all through the country. To array against this great army, how many criminals are there who have profited by their crimes and have kept their personal liberty and their citizenship?

If this fact were widely realized throughout the country, that any business, however small, pays better than crime, would not our correctionary problem be nearing its solution? It is believed that activity along this line by all those who are interested in the lessening and final extinguishing of crime in this country will do much to solve the problem.—Metropolitan Magazine.

These pills cure at once any sluggishness of the important digestive and excretive organs and give relief.

Booth's Laxative Pills are sold at a popular price, 25 cents, by Bolger & French and M. S. Hawkins, or sent by mail prepaid, on receipt of price, Booth's Pill Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Money back unless satisfied.

Veterans Will Meet Wednesday

Thirty-Eighth Annual Reunion Will Be Held at the High School Auditorium.

Wednesday and Thursday the members of the 104th O. V. I., many of whom were residents of this vicinity at the time of their enlistment, will hold their 38th annual reunion in this city at the high school auditorium. A campfire has been arranged for at the auditorium for Wednesday evening ,to which the general public is invited. There will be a program rendered, and there will be no admission charged.

Wednesday the members of the W. R. C. will serve dinner and supper at the G. A. R. rooms on Chestnut street, but Wednesday night the visitors will be entertained at the homes of their friends. It is desired that anyone who expects friends to attend the reunion, or who can accommodate visitors, will notify D. F. Yengling, 315 Ellsworth avenue, so that arrangements may be made before hand.

The 104th regiment was organized at Camp Massillon, and served three years, being mustered out June 17, 1865, at Greenboro, N. C. Following are some of the principal battles that the regiment took part in: Siege of Knoxville, Tenn., Kenesaw Mountain, Pine Mountain, Lost Mountain, Siege of Atlanta Columbia, Tenn., Franklin, Tenn., Nashville, Tenn., Fort Anderson and Aown Creek, N. C. The regiment was commanded by the late Gen. James W. Reilley, Wellsville, until July 30, 1864, when he was, for gallant service, promoted to brigadier general.

The program which has been prepared follows: Singing of "America" by the audience; instrumental selection, Miss Florence Brereton; address, Emmet Finley; vocal solo, Dr. C. E. Whinnery; address, Rev. G. B. Smith, Steubenville; music, Florence Brereton; recitation, Miss Mary Pierce; squad drill, by members of Co. B, S. of V. Reserves; reading, George H. Mounts; "Auld Lang Syne," by all; reminiscences, songs, etc.

TAFT DECLARES HIS PRINCIPLES

certain railways and their agents and officers for taking and giving secret money rebates. They could not have been brought under the rate bill, because the acts prosecuted were committed before the passage of the rate bill.

"It is true that these prosecutions were instituted under the Elkins act, but it is also true that had the Elkins bill never been passed, the same acts could and doubtless would have been prosecuted as giving and receiving unjust discriminations against the persons committing them under the amendment to the interstate commerce act of 1889 which the Elkins law supplanted. The Elkins law was really an amendment to the interstate commerce act, enlarging and making more effective the procedure for prosecuting violations of the prohibitions of that law and describing them in more comprehensive form. It gave greater latitude in respect of the district where the offense would be prosecuted and it made the company necessarily responsible in a fine for the act of its agents, without other proof of direct complicity than the agency. Under the 1889 amendment, however, the individuals convicted could have been sent to the penitentiary whereas under the Elkins act, the punishment by imprisonment was taken away while the fine was increased. The chief effect the Elkins law had on these particular prosecutions which have been given so much prominence, was to make it easier to convict the corporation and to increase its fine, but to save the guilty individual perpetrators from imprisonment.

Railroads Favored Elkins Bill.

"It is well understood that the Elkins bill was passed without opposition by, and with the full consent of, the railroads and that the chief reason for this was the elimination of the penitentiary penalty for unjust discriminations. The abolition of imprisonment, as a possible penalty, was unfortunate. Experience has shown that a mere fine is generally not enough to deter a corporation from violation of the law because it then becomes a matter of mere business speculation. The imprisonment of two or three prominent officers of a railway company, or a trust, engaged in giving or receiving secret rebates, would have a greater deterrent effect for the future than millions in a fine.

"In the rate bill, congress amended the Elkins bill and restored imprisonment as part of the punishment for secret rebates. Had the rebating and dishonest practices of the railroad companies and the trusts been as clearly known to congress and the public when the Elkins bill was considered as they were when the rate bill was passed, the Elkins bill would not have passed so smoothly.

"I do not wish to decry the merits of the Elkins bill because, aside from its elimination of imprisonment as punishment, it is a most useful measure, but its scope is so narrow in respect of the regulation of railways that it cannot be compared in importance of operation and effect to the rate bill. The increase by the rate bill in the powers of the commission in supervision, investigation, ratefixing and effective order-making to prevent discrimination is great. Elaborate machinery for making it difficult to violate the law without discovery and for discovering violations when they exist, and for affording affirmative and mandatory relief in requiring railroads to furnish equal facilities to all, is found in the provisions of the new rate bill. Criminal prosecutions will continue to be under the Elkins law, but as amended by the new rate bill. This is because the Elkins law, as amended, contains the part of the interstate commerce legislation which prescribes the punishment for violations of the law and so, in ordinary practice, comes into operation after the violations have been discovered under the other provisions of the rate bill.

Why Such Railroad Opposition?

"If the rate bill was likely to be a failure and to accomplish nothing in the regulation of their business, the query naturally arises why did the railroads spend so much money and so great effort to defeat it? Why was it, if it had no effect, that in the interval between the time of its passage and its going into effect, there were filed with the interstate commerce commission, more notices of reduced rates by the railroads than ever had been filed in the previous twenty years of the life of the interstate commerce law?

Attitude of Country Toward Rate Bill.

"The passage of the bill was taken, the country over, and properly taken, as a most important step toward the suppression of abuses which had grown up in a period of tolerant prosperity. It was thought to be an effective cure of the arterial system of the country which had become poisoned by dishonesty, injustice and fraud. It was a great solace to the conscience of the country outraged by recent revelations of railway and trust management. Passed at the instance of Mr. Roosevelt, it stands as a monument to the principle which he has incessantly maintained in speech and action, that the laws must be so made that they can be enforced as well against the sins of the wealthy and the powerful as against those of the poor.

Error of Mr. Bryan.

"Mr. Bryan contends that the law was greatly weakened in authorizing, or recognizing judicial intervention to restrain the orders of the commission. The criticism has not the slightest foundation. There can be no judicial appeal in the nature of a complete review on the merits from the commission to the supreme court or to the circuit court of the United States, for the commission is not a court of first instance, but only a mere administrative tribunal.

Amendments to Rate Bill Needed.

"The rate law does not go far enough. The practice under it has already disclosed the necessity for new amendments and will doubtless suggest more. Such is the true method—the empirical and tentative method—of securing proper remedies for a new evil. The classification of merchandise for transportation is a most important matter in rate fixing, for by a transfer from one class to another, the rate is changed and may work injustice. With the power of rate fixing, it would seem, should go the power in the commission to classify and to prescribe rules for uniform classification by all railroads.

"Recent revelations have emphasized the pernicious effect of the so-called over-capitalization of railroads which aids unscrupulous stock manipulators in disposing of railway securities at unreasonably high prices to innocent buyers. This evil would not of itself justify federal restraint or control, because such stock and bonds are usually issued under state charters. The practice, however, has a tendency to divert the money paid by the public for the stocks and bonds which ought to be expended in improving the roadbed, track and equipment of railways into the pockets of the dishonest manipulators, and thus to pile such an unprofitable debt upon a railway as to make bankruptcy and a receivership probable in the first business stringency. This result in an interstate railway necessarily interferes with, and burdens, interstate commerce, and justifies the exercise of the regulative power of congress to stop the practice. A railroad company engaged in interstate commerce should not be permitted, therefore, to issue stock or bonds and put them on sale in the market except after a certificate by interstate commerce commission that the securities are issued with the approval of the commission for a legitimate railroad purpose. The railroads that are honestly conducted would accept the certificate of the commission as a valuable one in the markets of the world, and only railway stock manipulators who look to the floating of watered securities as their best source of profit would have reason to complain.

"A much used means of eliminating competition among interstate lines serving the same territory is the acquisition by one company of the stock in another and the election of directors to represent that stock. This process is facilitated by the uncontrolled power to issue securities beyond the needs of the company for its legitimate business and would be curbed by the restriction proposed. The evil ought further to be directly restrained by making it unlawful for an interstate railway to acquire stock in a competing line. This is a simpler remedy of meeting the evil than by recourse to the anti-trust law under the Northern Securities case. In addition to this, competing lines should be prohibited from having common directors or officers.

Proposed Amendments Constitutional.

"These suggestions of additional legislation in respect to the supervision and control of interstate railways have been made by the interstate commerce commission and I heartily concur in them. They are plainly within the federal jurisdiction under the interstate commerce clause. I do not think that in order to accomplish a good which the federal government with its greater resources and wider geographical reach can bring about more quickly and efficiently, the constitutional limits upon federal action should be blurred out or an undoubted federal power should be expanded by doubtful construction into a field which really belongs to the state. But the right of congress to take any action, not confiscatory, in the most rigid control of interstate commerce can not be denied.

Objections to Government Ownership.

"I am opposed to government ownership—

"First, because existing government railways are not managed with either the efficiency or economy of privately managed roads and the rates charged are not as low and therefore not as beneficial to the public;

"Second, because it would involve an expenditure of certainly twelve billion of dollars to acquire the interstate railways and the creation of an enormous national debt.

"Third, because it would place in the hands of a reckless executive a power of control over business and politics that the imagination can hardly conceive, and would expose our popular institutions to danger."

Secretary Taft declared that this program of railway regulation is not inconsistent with individualism and he also said that he would favor railway rate agreements if submitted to and approved by the interstate commerce commission. As to the suggestion that the commission should be empowered to make a valuation of the physical property of all the railroads, Mr. Taft said that the commission already had sufficient power to do that. "I do not object to valuation," he said, "if thought relevant to any issue but I merely reprecate the assumption that it is to be the chief means of a great reform in rates."

Continuing, Secretary Taft pointed out that the frightful loss of life and limb among railway employes called for stringent regulations and he expressed his approval of the new employers' liability law.

The Trusts.

Taking up the question of the trusts, Secretary Taft explained the present anti-trust law, and gave his views regarding unlawful monopoly. He declared that the mere aggregation of all plants in a given line of industry in one ownership does not necessarily suppress competition, but he pointed out the illegal devices employed by some great corporations, and said:

"I am inclined to the opinion that the time is near at hand for an amendment of the anti-trust law defining in more detail the evils against which it is aimed, making clearer the distinction between lawful agreements reasonably restraining trade and those which are pernicious in their effect, and particularly denouncing the various devices for monopolizing trade which prosecutions and investigations have shown to be used in actual practice. The decisions of the courts and the experience of executive and prosecuting officers make the framing of such a statute possible. It will have the good effect of making much clearer to those business men who would obey the laws the methods to be avoided.

"Another and perhaps the most effective method in the past for an unlawful trust to maintain itself has been to secure secret rebates or other unlawful advantage in transportation, by threat of withholding business from the carrier. This is undoubtedly what has enabled the Standard Oil company and the sugar trust and other great combinations, to reap an illegal harvest and to drive all competitors from the field. If by asserting complete federal control over the interstate railways of the country, we can suppress secret rebates and discriminations of other kinds, we shall have gone a long way in the suppression of the unlawful trusts.

Answer to Mr. Bryan's Question.

"Mr. Bryan asks me what I would do with the trusts. I answer that I would restrain unlawful trusts with all the efficiency of injunctive process and would punish with all the severity of criminal prosecution every attempt on the part of aggregated capital through the illegal means I have described to suppress competition.

"Mr. Bryan says: 'He would extirpate trusts, root and branch.' If Mr. Bryan's language is more than mere rhetoric and he means to seize the property, to divide it up and sell it in pieces, and disassemble the parts, then I am not in favor of his method of dealing with trusts, because I believe that such large combinations legitimately conducted greatly add to the prosperity of the country. The attitude of the government toward combinations of capital for the reduction in the cost of production should be exactly the same as toward the combinations of labor for the purpose of bettering the conditions of the wage worker and of increasing his share of the joint profit of capital and labor. They are both to be encouraged in every way as long as they conduct themselves within the law. They both wield enormous power and if wielded for good, can be of inestimable benefit. Their power for evil when in the control of unscrupulous men is such that if it is to be restrained, it needs the use of all the means which the executive and the courts can lawfully command. I think it entirely possible by the rigorous prosecutions of the law against illegal combinations and by the equal and just operation of railways, to prevent a recurrence of what we have had in the past and to restrain within the bonds of legitimate and useful business, all these great corporations."

Touching upon the evils of swollen fortunes, Secretary Taft said that the captains of legitimate industry are entitled to large rewards, and it is impossible to fix a limit upon the amount which they may accumulate. However, he advocated legislation having a tendency to divide great fortunes and to discourage their accumulation, and pointed out that perhaps the best remedy is to be found in state legislation. He said:

"I do not favor federal legislation now to reduce such fortunes either by a constitutional amendment to permit an income tax or by a graduated inheritance tax, but whenever the government revenues need an increase or readjustment, I should strongly favor the imposition of a graduated inheritance tax and, if necessary for the revenues, a change in the constitution authorizing a federal income tax, with all the incidental influence of both measures to lessen the motive for accumulation.

"The suppression of monopolies and the abolition of secret rebates and discriminating privileges by the railroads will lessen the possibility of such enormous accumulations as those which have already taken place. The evils of too great concentration of money or of any kind of property in a few hands are to be best remedied by the gradual effect of a long course of legislation and not by measures having an immediate and radical effect that are apt to involve injurious consequences to the general business community."

Secretary Taft declared distinctly his adherence to the distinctive policies of the Roosevelt administration when he said:

"I have thus reviewed at great length what have properly come to be known as President Roosevelt's policies and have discussed them with what I hope you will think is entire candor. I have attempted to point out one or two instances in which I would qualify details of future policies which he has sketched, but with these minor exceptions as to method, I am glad to express my complete, thorough and sincere sympathy with, and admiration for, the great conserving and conservative movement which he has with wonderful success initiated and carried so far against bitter opposition, to remedy the evils of our prosperity and preserve to us the institutions we have inherited from our fathers."

The criticism that the Roosevelt policies are Socialistic is absurd, said Secretary Taft. On the contrary, the policies were framed to defeat Socialism. Mr. Taft also pointed out that the railroads—not President Roosevelt—were responsible for restrictive legislation, and that the slump in Wall street prices was in no wise due to the President's policy. He contrasted Mr. Roosevelt's and Mr. Bryan's theory of government, showing that Roosevelt believes in both people and individuals and in strong and efficient government, while Bryan's theories are based on distrust of the individual and failure of representative government. Secretary Taft declared that Bryan seeks judicial procedure, that will restrain wealthy wrongdoers, but will give freedom of action for lawless poor, and in support of this he instanced the Oklahoma constitution, which has been so warmly indorsed by Bryan.

"Certainly it is difficult," said Secretary Taft, "for an impartial observer to find anything in the actual government of Mr. Roosevelt that harmonizes with what would be the government under Mr. Bryan if he could carry out his theories."

Great interest attached to Secretary Taft's discussion of the tariff. On this subject the full text of his speech was as follows:

The Protective Tariff.

"I come now to the question of the tariff, its revision, and its relation to the unlawful trusts. The Dingley tariff was adopted immediately after the election of Mr. McKinley. Since that time we have passed through the Spanish war and have had a decade of prosperity and an increase an expansion of trade unexampled in the history of this or any other country. The Republican principle of the protective tariff is, as I understand it, that through the customs revenue law a tariff should be collected on all imported products that compete with American products, which will at least equal a difference in the cost of production in this country and abroad, and that proper allowance should be made in this difference for the reasonable profits to the American manufacturer. The claim of protectionists, and it has been abundantly justified in the past, is that protection secures a high rate of wages and that the encouragement it gives to the home industry operating under the influence of an energetic competition between American manufacturers, induces such improvement in the methods of manufacture and such economics as to reduce greatly the price for the benefit of the American public and makes it possible to reduce the tariff without depriving the manufacturer of needed protection and a good profit.

Free Trade Revision Disastrous.

"The present business system of the country rests on the protective tariff and any attempt to change it to a free trade basis will certainly lead only to disaster.

"It is the duty of the Republican party, however, to see to it that the tariff on imported articles does not exceed substantially the reasonably permanent differential between the cost of production in the foreign countries and that in the United States, and therefore when changes take place in the conditions of production likely to produce a very large reduction in the cost of proluction in the United States, it is time that schedules be re-examined and if excessive that they be reduced so as to bring them within the justification for the rule, by which the amount of tariff to be imposed under the protective system is properly determined.

"Whenever the tariff imposed is largely in excess of the differential between the cost of production in the two countries, then there is formed at once a great temptation to monopolize the business of producing the particular product, and to take advantage of profit in the excessive tariff. This denies to the people altogether the economies of production that competition under a protective tariff should develop.

Action of Manufacturers.

"I am not myself a tariff expert and am not sufficiently familiar with the cost of production of the various articles covered in the many schedules to point out the particular ones in which such a change has taken place; but my general conclusion formed as above finds striking support in the action of the National Association of Manufacturers of the United States upon this very question. A committee appointed by that body for the purpose investigated the question whether the tariff had not in respect to many articles by a change in conditions become excessive.

"This National Association of Manufacturers is composed almost wholly of protectionists, and I think we may safely say, therefore, of Republicans. I am advised that the association represents all classes of manufacturers in this country and that a majority of the manufacturers of consequence are members. The committee reports: "We are all protectionists—there are a very few brilliant exceptions, but so few that we may repeat the statement, 'We are protectionists.'" The committee lays down in its report the following doctrine, which seems to me of the orthodox Republican type:

"'Protection, as the word implies, requires that the tariff schedules be such as protect our manufacturers against undue pressure from foreign competition, and maintain our high wage scale and standard of living. The minimum measure of protection is, therefore, as President Roosevelt said, 'The difference in the cost of production in this country and abroad.' These protectiv schedules, this figured, must carry with them a very ample margin for safety. It must make full allowance for the possibility of hard times abroad and good times here; for dumping, and all other contingencies. This done, it is truly protective; and it is only so, as it covers these features and nothing more.'

Many Schedules Excessive.

"After referring to the fact that there were some articles in which the tariff was hardly high enough, the conclusion of the committee was stated as follows:

"'Confining ourselves to the protective principle, we find many schedules—some of them upon the prime necessities of life—returning the government no revenue of consequence, and yet under the claims of the protective theory, bearing a tariff schedule—not merely equal to the difference in the cost of production here and abroad, with all reasonable contingencies allowed for—but decidedly in excess of the total wage cost of production in this country.

"'We find some of these schedules many times in excess of the difference between the cost of production here and abroad. We find that individuals who are at the top, both in stock holdings and in management in some of these same industries, declare privately that these schedules are wrong, and that the best interest of those industries themselves, as well as the interests of the country at large, require adjustment at the earliest possible moment. They say that now is the time for revision, while the country is so prosperous that adjustment may easily be made to new conditions.'

"In that body of members of 1,800—350, or 20 per cent, were radically opposed to revision; 8 per cent were opposed to revision at this time lest it unsettle business; 55 per cent wished revision, and 17 per cent were indifferent or uninformed. Taken by industries, out of 77 different industries tabulated, 56 voted for revision, casting a total of 1,510 votes; 16 industries voted against revision, casting a total of 102 votes; 5 industries were each tied in their votes, casting a total of 28 votes.

"The association then by resolutions passed by a large majority declared itself in favor of a revision of the tariff at the earliest practicable date.

"I have not cited the report or action of the National Association of Manufacturers as conclusive upon the character of the present schedules, nor do I assume that the manufacturers of the country embrace all the classes who are interested in maintaing the

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Findlay, O., Aug. 19.—Because his wife would not give him money with which to continue his spree, Hector La Schein drove her and their four children from the house at the point of a knife and then moved a greater portion of the furniture and clothing to the back yard and set them on fire.

Recuperation—There is not so much in the ordinary vacation as there is in a single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which refreshes the tired blood, sharpens the dulled appetite, restores the lost courage. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla this summer.

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 19.—Following an attempt to hold up a man in Uniontown, a negro named Knight was shot and killed by Policeman Henry Douglas, also colored. Douglas was badly beaten and had his uniform torn off in the fight which preceded the shooting.

Hay Fever and Summer Colds.

Victims of hay fever will experience benefit by taking Foley's Honey and Tar, as it stops difficult breathing immediately and heals the inflamed air passages, and even if it should fail to cure you it will give instant relief. The genuine is in a yellow package. Bolger & French.

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—Six lives may pay for the act of petty thievery of a vandal who broke open the gas meter in the home of Mrs. May Ward to secure the money it contained. In doing so the thief caused a leak, which resulted in the prostration of Mrs. Ward and her five children.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup is sold under a positive guarantee to cure constipation, sick headache, stomach trouble, or any form of indigestion. If it fails, the manufacturers refund your money. What more can any one do. Bolger & French.

Indiana, Pa., Aug. 19.—Gertrude Moorhead committed suicide by hanging at the home of Mrs. West Groft at Penn Run, where she boarded. Miss Moorhead was employed as a telephone operator by the Indiana Farmers' Telephone company.

Ten Years in Bed.

"For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys," writes R. A. Gray, J. P., of Oakville, Ind. "It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." Bolger & French.

CUTICURA REMEDIES A PERFECT SUCCESS

"I wish to let you know that I have used one set of Cuticura Remedies—one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura, but two vials of Cuticura Resolvent Pills—which cost me a dollar and twenty-five cents in all. For a year I have had what they call eczema. I had an itching all over my body, and when I would retire for the night it would keep me awake half the night, and the more I would scratch, the more it would itch. I tried all kinds of remedies, but could get no relief. A friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies which I did, and am very glad I tried them, for I was completely cured. If any of my friends should be troubled with the same disease, I will cheerfully recommend the Cuticura Remedies, and if I know any one who wants to know how I cured myself, I shall be glad to tell them. CUTICURA

Cuticura Ointment is, beyond question, the most successful curative for torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, yet compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with Cuticura Ointment, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed in the severer cases by a dose of Cuticura Resolvent (Liquid or Pills), is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning, and scaly humors, eczemas, rashes, and irritations, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when most, if not all, other remedies and even physicians fail.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. MUCH SHOOTING, NO DEATHS

Politicians Fire at Each Other, But Marksmanship Is Poor.

Mason, O., Aug. 20.—A fight in which the whole village was interested took place at Haskinsville, 6 miles from here, it being the outcome of a political feud of long standing.

Charles White, Jr., son of the constable of Hamilton township, Warren county, and Grant Smith, both politicians of local note, were the principals in the affair. Witte and Smith met and after a few hot words Witte pulled a revolver. Standing 6 feet away he fired three shots, none being effective. Smith ran to his house, grabbed a shotgun and fired both barrels at Witte, but missed him. Witte's wife in the meantime appeared at the door of her home with a revolver in each hand, but before she could use the weapons the crowd that had gathered disarmed her.

Home Treatment for Women

The Prescription of a Great Physician

VALUE PROVEN

During Twenty Years of Actual Practice.

Probably one of the most successful medical specialists in the treatment of women's diseases was Dr. Pengelly. He formulated Zoa-Phora by using a number of medicinal ingredients, which experience had shown him to be the best, and combined them in just the right proportions to produce the desired effect on woman's delicate organism. During more than twenty years of actual medical practice he invariably prescribed Zoa-Phora for the alleviation of pain and for the permanent restoration of health to sick and ailing women.

Success to a marked degree attended his treatment of all those diseases and derangements of the genital organs which are peculiar to women only. It is not necessary to enumerate here the various forms of weakness and disease—all women know what they are—which Dr. Pengelly treated so successfully by the use of Zoa-Phora.

Further proof of these statements, if desired, and more detailed information as to the results obtained from the use of Zoa-Phora can be obtained by writing the Zoa-Phora Company, Kalamazoo, Mich. They will gladly answer all inquiries and will send you copies of letters from many women who volunteer words of praise for the doctor's treatment. Within a short time the demand for Zoa-Phora brought about by the recommendation of women who had been blessed by its use, became so great that the doctor could not personally attend each patient, and now Zoa-Phora is being sold by reliable druggists nearly everywhere. It comes in sealed, sterilized, dollar bottles, already prepared, and compounded in just the right proportions. There can be no mistake if you ask for Zoa-Phora.

In each package you will find a copy of "Dr. Pengelly's Advice to Women," a medical book giving interesting and instructive information about all diseases of women, and the way to successfully treat them in the privacy of your own home. You need not tell your troubles to anyone.

M. T. Lynch, Editor of the Phillipsburg, N. J., Daily Post, writes: "I have used many kinds of medicines for coughs and colds in my family but never anything so good as Foley's Honey and Tar. I canot say too much in praise of it." Bolger & French.

Brookville, Pa., Aug. 19.—The biggest gas well in Jefferson county and one of the biggest in the state has been brought in on the Hunter & Deemer lease, 5 miles south of this place. The well is producing at the rate of 8,000,000 feet daily and all efforts to plug it have proved unavailing.

protective system, for I fully recognize that other classes, especially the farmers, are vitally concerned in some of the schedules. All that I maintain is that when after a tariff law has been in force 10 years and a representative body of protectionists in principle and interest, whose business makes them familiar with the facts and who have no motive for misrepresentation, adopt such a report as the one I have quoted from, it makes a case for investigation into the existing tariff by congress for the purpose of determining how much revision is needed.

"The investigation in the end will be conducted by the committee of ways and means of the house of representatives and by the finance committee of the senate. The schedules are for them to recommend and for congress to fix after they hear evidence of the cost of production in this country and the cost of production abroad, and the conditions existing in each trade, and if it shall turn out that popular opinion founded on such substantial evidence as that which I have cited here should prove to be unfounded, then the revision of the tariff will be confined to minor inequalities. But if the result of the investigation justifies the report of the National Association of Manufacturers, then the revision of the excessive schedules should be substantial, and the motive for the organization and maintenance of unlawful trusts to monopolize the manufacture and sale of articles in such schedules will be taken away.

Prosperity Argument Against Revision.

"Objection is made to revision on the ground that we are enjoying business prosperity, that this will be disturbed by a proposal to change the tariff, and that we should wait until hard times before we revise. I can not follow the argument. The revision proposed is to be by the Republican party and is not to be a departure from the protective principle but in conformity with it. It will affect only those persons injuriously who are making an unreasonable profit out of an excessive rate. The present prosperity is not dependent on such a profit. If it were, then it would not be the prosperity of the whole business community, but only of a few unduly favored at the expense of the community. In the present temper of the people, general prosperity has not prevented the remedying of other abuses and injustice. I don't know why it should prevent this.

"I had occasion in a speech which I delivered at Bath, Me., now about a year ago, to express my individual opinion as in favor of an immediate revision of the tariff, but I there pointed out, and I only refer to it to repeat it and emphasize it, that the revision of a tariff involves so many different interests the country over as that it could not be undertaken successfully by the Republican party, and therefore ought not to be undertaken at all, until the party as a whole is in favor of it. I ventured to express the opinion that the sentiment in favor of a revision in the Republican party was crystalliing to such a point that in a short time we might expect to have action upon the subject. What has happened in the last year has only served to confirm the view I then expressed, and it now seems to me that even most of the extremists in the matter of the tariff are of opinion that it would be not only unwise, but unsafe, for the party to fail in its next national platform to pledge itself to a revision of the tariff as soon after the next presidential election as possible. Those of us who favor immediate revision can well afford to wait until after the next presidential election in order to secure substantial acquiescence by all Republicans. Certainly a delay of action for 18 months ought to furnish a reason for no protectionist to invite the certain business disaster that Democratic revision on free trade lines would involve. More than this, full time should be given for the operation of a new tariff upon the business of the country before the people express their opinion of it. The passage of a bill by the next congress would mean the consideration by congress of the tariff in the midst of a presidential campaign with all the opportunity for misrepresentation of its effect which its practical operation for a year or more would refute. Furthermore, with a presidential election four years removed, we can count on a revision less affected by political considerations than if made in the heat of a national campaign."

Secretary Taft expressed his regret at not having time to discuss other subjects and in closing said:

Advantages of Republican Party.

"I can not close without comment on the position of advantage for the coming national campaign which President Roosevelt, by the intense earnestness, vigor, courage and success with which he has pressed the reforms that rightly bear his name, has secured to the Republican party. A trimming, do-nothing, colorless policy in face of the proof of business, railway and corporate abuses would certainly have driven the party from power, however little responsibility for them could be justly charged to it. It was not political advantage which the president sought in these reforms, but the real betterment of conditions which he has effected. Still the belief of the people in his sincerity, his courage and his amazing quality for doing things on their behalf has won for him a hold on the American public, at which even his bitterest opponents marvel and which finds few if any parallels in the political history of this country. Fortunate a party with such a leader."

FAR FROM ITS HAUNTS

Kangaroo Claimed to Be Roaming in Wilds of Pennsylvania.

Pennsburg, Pa., Aug. 20.—Tales of a kangaroo that is said to be roaming the wooded hills in the vicinity of Pleasant Run, a few miles west of here, have occasioned intense excitement. Several persons have seen the strange animal, and while it is so fleet that no one has been able to obtain a good view of it, the descriptions substantiate the theory that it is a kangaroo.

Dogs have attacked it but they were always worsted. They were not bitten but apparently the animal flung them off with terrific force, in the manner that a kangaroo defends itself with its hind legs and tail.

Persons living in the neighborhood are afraid to venture away from home after nightfall. Young men and women feel that the customary outdoor rural amusements are no longer safe. "It ain't that I'm afraid of any wild beast that ever roamed the jungles of Montgomery county," said one young swain, "but I certainly do object to the disgrace of being knocked out by the hind legs or the tail of a kangaroo."

Men Past Sixty In Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate glands. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old." Bolger & French.

ADMITS HIS GUILT

Assailant of Miss Whitehead Glad To Throw Himself on Mercy of Court

LYNCHERS FOLLOWED HIS TRAIL

With Assistance of Bloodhounds the Sheriff Finds Brute in Hiding—Thrilling Auto Ride to Jail Keeps Off Would-Be Avengers.

Meadville, Pa., Aug. 20.—Cringing and quaking in momentary expectation of being torn from the hands of Deputy Sheriff McMillen by the mob which formed a gauntlet from the jail to Magistrate Power's office, Henry W. Wagner, the assailant of Miss Alma Whitehead, improved the first opportunity to plead guilty, anxious to get back to the security of the jail. The expressions Wagner heard as he passed to and from the prison indicated the temper of the crowd and it would have taken little to start a lynching.

Wagner will probably attempt no defense when he comes to trial at the September quarter sessions. He has already made complete separate confessions to Sheriff Marshall and Deputy Sheriff McMillen, in addition to pleading guilty before the committing magistrate.

Wagner in his confession has described in detail his attack on Miss Whitehead in the public road near her home at Turnersville; how he carried her into the woods, and all that happened before he released her at daylight. He admits everything, offering only in palliation, "I don't know why I did it."

Wagner is a German, 27 years old, about 5 feet 9 inches tall, very cadaverous looking and weight about 155. He is a typical tramp in dress and general appearance and bestial in feature and action. The maximum penalty for his crime is $1,000 fine and 15 years. The report from Turnersville is that Miss Whitehead will recover.

The capture of Wagner was attended with thrilling incidents. Sheriff Marshall and County Detective Lally, at the head of a posse of farmers and others, got on the trail of the accused man and followed this trail into the state of Ohio. They had the assistance of some bloodhounds from Youngstown, O., and when it was seen that the trail led in the direction of Dorset, it was assumed by Marshall and the posse that the hunted man had decided to spend the night hidden in the extensive thicket there. Soon, however, the dogs changed their direction and headed for the railroad tracks. Here the hunted man was found hiding under a pile of railroad ties.

Reports of the arrest of a man and of the manner in which he was being taken to Meadville soon began to spread. The result of this was that at several points on the road groups of excited and enraged persons had assembled with a view of taking summary vengeance on the prisoner. The sheriff, however, had no difficulty in deciding what was the intention of these groups, and, as each was reached, he threw wide open the power of his auto and passed them with his prisoner in safety. Only once did the sheriff encounter any real difficulty. Near Conneaut Lake the auto was stopped by a determined crowd and only by skillful maneuvering was the prisoner kept out of their clutches and landed in jail.

BABY'S VOICE

Is the joy of the household, for without it no happiness can be complete. How sweet the picture of mother and babe! Angels smile at and commend the thoughts and aspirations of the mother bending over the cradle. The ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so full of danger and suffering that she looks forward to the hour when she shall feel the exquisite thrill of motherhood with indescribable dread and fear. Every woman should know that the danger, pain and horror of childbirth can be entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, a scientific liniment for external use only, which toughens and renders pliable all the parts, and assists nature in its sublime work. By its aid thousands of women have passed this great crisis in perfect safety and without pain.

APPLE EXPERT GIVES SOME HOPE ON CROP.

H. W. Spear, the well-known apple buyer of Garfield, who always keeps trace of the fruit conditions of the country, in speaking of the matter says that although the apples for the year are very scarce, in some sections there is a fair crop.

This is notable in New York state, in New England, Canada and Arkansas. In sections of Illinois and Indiana and in parts of Michigan there is a fair fruitage, and there are also some pockets of apples in Ohio, but throughout the Ohio valley the crop is almost a total failure.

YEARLY MEETING OF HICKSITES

The Yearly Meeting of the Hicksite Friends will open in the meeting house at the corner of East Green street and Ellsworth avenue Saturday, August 24, and will continue until Thursday, August 29.

On Sunday, August 25, there will be two public meetings of worship, at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., and on Wednesday, August 28, there will be a public meeting at 10 a. m. On the other days of the meeting the sessions will be devoted to business, two sessions being held each day.

Among other visiting ministers that are expected to be present is Henry W. Wilbur, Philadelphia, who is considered one of the ablest ministers of the society.

PRICES MAKE A HIT.

The special engagement of "The Prices" which Manager F. Y. Allen of the Broadway Star theater has secured for this week opened up the week Monday evening with large audiences. Mabelle Price, the coon shouter, and Jack Price, the black-faced comedian in monologue and songs, made a hit with their audiences, and all were well pleased with the entire performances. Several performances were given and the theater was filled to its capacity at each one. Moving pictures and illustrated songs by Frank Reed were also pleasing. The special attractions will continue throughout the week.

FRENCH TO SPEAK.

At the regular meeting of the Business association Tuesday evening L. B. French, for two years president of the organization, will address it, telling something of his recent trip to California and through the Yellowstone park. This will be a treat to the members, as Mr. French is an observant man and has the faculty of telilng what he has seen in an entertaining manner. It is expected that a large number of the members will be present to hear him.

SPECIAL TRAIN.

The Erie railroad will run a special train from this city on next Saturday morning to Shelton's Grove to accommodate the crowds who expect to attend the annual Harvest Home picnic. The special train will leave this city at 7:25 a. m. and returning will leave the grounds at 6 p. m. The regular train will also leave at the usual hour, 11:05 a. m.

PICNIC COMMITTEE MET.

A meeting was held Monday evening by the delegates from the Presbyterian, Christian and Methodist Sunday schools in regard to the proposed picnic. Several places were discussed, and three of them selected from which to choose, and the delegates are to report at a meeting to be held Thursday evening, when final arrangements will be made.

FRENCH GETS JOB.

Carl R. French of this city has received notice from Acting Director H. W. Rizer of the U. S. geological survey, at Washington, D. C., that he has been granted field employment with the surveying corps. He was recommended by Hon. W. B. McCord of this city. The surveying corps is now employed in and about this city.

WANTS JUDGMENT.

M. A. McClean of this city has entered suit in the Trumbull county courts at Warren against William Hackett, asking judgment for $298 and interest, claimed to be due on a promissory note.

FESTIVAL AT VALLEY.

A festival and social will be held at Valley Thursday evening of this week, a pleasant time being in prospect. All are cordially invited.

TRIPLE REUNION.

The Cyrus-Ormes-Manzilla reunion will be held Thursday, August 22, near Thelma City.

DAMASCUS.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dahlke are enjoying a two weeks' visit with friends and relatives in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. D. B. Cassady, Alliance, spent Monday with her sister, Mrs. W. G. Watters.

Word has been received here by friends of the marriage of Miss Eva Linton of Brownsville, Pa., to Mr. Ellis Lilley of California, Pa., the marriage being solemnized August 15. Miss Linton had often visited Damascus, and has many friends and numerous relatives here. Her chosen life companion is interested in a banking business at California. Hearty congratulations go out from Damascus friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barber, north of Beloit, left Tuesday for an extended visit at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Miss Dell Freeman is visiting with friends at Brownsville, Pa.

DELEGATE FIREMEN HAVE COME HOME.

The delegates to the annual convention of the Northeastern Ohio Volunteer Firemens' association, which met the latter part of last week at Bridgeport, have returned home. They report that the running team of the Bridgeport fire department showed them every courtesy, although there was not much coming from the rest of the department. The sesisons were held in Bachman's hall, and there were delegates present from Coshocton, Martins Ferry, Newcomerstown, Leetonia, Columbiana, Toronto and Salem.

In the absence of Secretary Clark White of this city, Dr. J. W. Darrah of Martins Ferry was selected to act in his place. The invitation to meet at Martins Ferry next year was accepted, and the following officers elected: Vice president, John Entriken; secretary, Dr. J. W. Darrah, Martins Ferry; treasurer, W. E. Warren, Leetonia. The president will be elected next year, the present incumbent, J. Frank Lightel, Coshocton, holding over. The election of a secretary was made necessary by the resignation of Clark White of this city, who had served several years. The delegates from this city were John Entriken, Oscar Calladine and James Goodwin.

SEPARATED 25 YEARS; NOW WANTS DIVORCE.

Abraham Cline has brought action in Mahoning courts for divorce from his wife, their separation occurring 25 years ago, during which time they have ever lived apart. Mr. Cline now lives in Portage county, the wife at Canfield.

The couple were married in Milton on Christmas day, 1862, they living together for 20 years. Then Mrs. Cline, the petition avers, suddenly left and despite entreaty of the husband, refused to live with him again.

JOHNNY GET YOUR GUN; SQUIRREL SEASON DUE.

Johnny get your gun, your dog and your lunch, but mind the ins and outs of the game law, or the warden will get you. The squirrel season will open in full on September 1 and will close October 15.

This year the game wardens will keep especially close watch upon the huntsmen to see that no violations of the state laws occur. It is said that the bushy tail creatures are quite numerous this season and ought to draw out a large number of nimrods.

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN.

Hyomei is Guaranteed by Bolger & French and M. S. Hawkins to Cure Catarrh.

Thousands who have been cured by Hy-o-mei call the inhaler that comes with every outfit the "Little Pocket Physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse.

There is really no excuse whatever for anyone having catarrh now that Hy-o-mei is so readily obtainable. If Bolger & French and M. S. Hawkins will let you have a complete outfit, with the understanding that unless it cures catarrh, it will not cost you a cent.

Do not delay longer the use of Hy-o-mei if you suffer with catarrh. This is purely a local disease, and Hy-o-mei goes right to the spot where the catarrh germs are present, destroys them, soothes and heals all inflammation and makes a permanent and lasting cure.

The complete Hy-o-mei outfit consists of the "Little Pocket Physician" and a bottle of Hy-o-mei and costs only $1.00, making it the most economical as well as the only guaranteed treatment for the cure of catarrh. Remember that Hy-o-mei cures catarrh without stomach dosing, applying the medication and healing where the disease germs are present.

RETAIL GROCERS' RESTS WILL CONTINUE A MONTH.

A regular meeting of the Salem Retail Grocers' association was held on Monday evening at its hall in the Pow block, and routine business transacted. The members have been closing their stores each Wednesday afternoon during June, July and August, and it has been practically decided to continue the arrangement through September this year. The stores close at 12 o'clock and remain closed until the next morning, giving the clerks an appreciated rest, as well as the proprietors.
